Initially, trays served as promotional tools distributed to taverns, grocery stores, and distributors, aiming to boost brand recognition. They were typically made from metal, often tin or steel, and featured vibrant lithographic prints.

During Prohibition (1920-1933), many breweries used trays as a means of maintaining brand visibility despite legal restrictions, which contributed to their proliferation. Post-Prohibition, the popularity of trays surged as breweries sought to capitalize on nostalgic and patriotic themes.
